

Newsletter Going On-Line

By the time the next newsletter hits the printer in January 2001, you may have already received it via the world wide web. Over the last year, the Task Force has been improving their Internet Presence by continuously updating, upgrading, and modifying our website at www.kcdvtf.org.

Starting in January, those of you with email and internet capabilities will be receiving our quarterly newsletter on-line.

We need your help though, to collect email addresses. Please email your address to kcdvtf@silverlink.net

The Task Force has a very small budget to do the very big job of educating the community and keeping communication lines open across Kitsap County. Our printing and postage bills are huge and we'd really like to spend our limited money on providing resource guides for domestic violence victims and other educational and training materials for the residents of Kitsap. It comes down to money and manpower-both of which are limited.

Don't worry, those of you who have no access to the internet will not be left in the cold! Our printed newsletter will still reach you like always.

Thanks for helping us be more fiscally responsible. We look forward to sharing the benefits with our community.
